

Empathy in Action

Compassionate Communication with NVC

Learning to Love
Ourselves and Others

Some Ground Rules

1. Create Safety Together 🤝

Connect with curiosity and kindness.

Respect all perspectives, limits, and privacy.

2. Self-Care First 🥤

Listen to your own needs.

If you need a break, take it.

3. Challenge by Choice 🌱

You can always say "Pass."

Stretch your comfort zone, but don't snap it! 🦋

Code of Conduct

Disclaimer: Use with Caution 🚧

Side effects of authenticity include:

- Awkwardness & Vulnerability 🙈
- Getting fired from a job you hated anyway 📈🙋
- Walking away from relationships that don't serve life 🤝💔

Our Communication Approach

Practicing empathy through real conversation

- Speak from the Heart: 🗣️ Share your own genuine feelings and needs using "I" statements.
- Listen to Connect, Not to Fix: 👂 Our goal is to understand the other person's experience deeply, rather than trying to change it.
- Value All Voices: 🌈 Diverse viewpoints are welcomed, encouraged, and celebrated here.
- Connection over Perfection! 🧩 It's okay to be messy. We value the intention to connect more than getting the words "right."

Why are We Doing This?

The Energy of Curiosity 🔦 ✨

We replace judgment with wonder. Curiosity creates the open space where safety, authenticity, and connection can grow.

Permission to be Imperfect 🙌❤️ This is a safe space to be messy. We learn more from our authentic stumbles than from "getting it right."

Playground for Growth 🛝 We explore NVC with playfulness and boldness—feeling deeply and learning to love ourselves and others.

Name

Experience: Are you new to NVC?

Feeling: 1-2 words describing how you feel right now.

Need: 1-2 words describing a need you have (met or unmet).

Two Modes, One Human

 The Giraffe (Heart) Because they have the largest heart of any land animal, they symbolize leading with vulnerability, observation, and feelings.

 The Jackal (Habit) Represents our conditioning to interpret, judge, and demand.

- The Goal: We don't "kill" the Jackal. We learn to listen to it.
- Judgments: Are not "bad"—they are just tragic expressions of unmet needs. We want to remove the shame and punishment, not the signal.
- Requests vs. Demands: Humans fundamentally want to help each other. Demands create resistance; Requests invite natural giving.

Questions to Help You Discover Who You Are

What are you feeling?

Sad, angry, tired

What do you need?

care/comfort (universal need)

What do you want?
(to satisfy your need?)

You want a hug

What is your request?

“Can you please give me a hug?”

How do YOU want to live YOUR life?

The Parts of NVC

Observation

Observation involves identifying both internal and external events, while acknowledging personal interpretations and judgments.

Feeling

A feeling is a sensation in your body that arises from met or unmet needs.

Need

Needs are the conditions human beings require in order to thrive.

Request

A Request is a way to ask for what you want in a way that promotes connection and finding mutually beneficial solutions.

Example of an NVC Request

I feel frustrated when I come home and find dishes in the sink (observation + feeling).

It's important to me to have a tidy space to relax (need).

Would you be willing to load the dishwasher after meals (request)?

Get up and shake it off!

Activity

Giraffe Hot Potato (group exercise)

Goal:

To build NVC muscle memory! We are practicing how to quickly identify the 4 steps (Observation, Feelings, Needs, Requests) in real-time.

Skills we are building:

- 👁️ Clear Observation: Separating facts from stories.
- ❤️ Self-Empathy: connecting our own feelings to needs.
- 🤔 Curiosity: Getting interested instead of defensive.
- 🎉 Play: Learning through connection, not perfection.

Giraffe Hot Potato (example)

When I _____, I feel _____ because I need _____. Would you _____?

 Observation	When I expressed how I felt, you changed the topic; I feel...
 Feelings	scared	curious	angry	frustrated
 Needs	Safety, security	understanding	To be heard	To have space
 Request	Can we talk about what just happened?	Hey, you seem like your stressed, let's talk about what you need	Can we talk about what I expressed?	I'm going to take 5 minutes and regroup

Goal: To build NVC muscle memory! We practice identifying the 4 steps (Observation, Feelings, Needs, Requests) in real-time.

How to Play:

1. The Spark: We start with one Observation (e.g., "I heard a sigh").
2. Fill the Grid: The group calls out any Feeling, Need, or Request that might fit.
 - Tip: You can guess for your perspective or the other person's.
3. The Statement: Finally, we walk through the full sentence together:
 - "When I [Observation], I feel [Feeling] because I need [Need]. Would you [Request]?"

Scenario 1: The Inner Critic (Self-Talk)

- Observation: When I noticed my mind repeating "you should have known better" after I made that scheduling mistake...
- Feelings: Heavy / Defeated / Self-Critical
- Needs: Self-Compassion / Acceptance / Learning
- Request: Would I be willing to take a deep breath and remind myself that mistakes are how I grow?

Scenario 2: Social Media Comparison

- Observation: When I spent 30 minutes scrolling through updates and comparing my progress to where others seem to be...
- Feelings: Inadequate / Lonely / Restless
- Needs: Self-Worth / Authenticity / Peace
- Request: Can I step away from the screen for 10 minutes and write down three things I appreciate about my own journey?

Scenario 3: Overcommitting & People-Pleasing

- Observation: When I said "yes" to hosting the extra gathering this weekend even though my energy was already low...
- Feelings: Tired / Resentful / Overwhelmed
- Needs: Self-Care / Boundaries / Rest
- Request: Would I be open to sending a gentle message to pass the hosting duties to someone else this time?

Scenario 4: Unmet Expectations

- Observation: When I looked at my to-do list at the end of the day and saw that three major tasks were still left undone...
- Feelings: Disappointed / Frustrated / Anxious
- Needs: Realism / Ease / Acknowledgement
- Request: Can I acknowledge the things I did accomplish today before focusing on what is left for tomorrow?

- The Evaluation: "I feel slighted" blames the other person and implies intentional disrespect.
- The Full Feeling: Describes your actual internal emotional state.
- The Need: Explains why you feel that way based on what matters to you.

The Fix

Here are examples of how to express the full feeling and need behind feeling "slighted":

- "I feel hurt and disconnected because I need respect and belonging."
- "I feel resentful and invisible because I value recognition and fairness."
- "I feel sad and diminished because I want to feel valued in this team."
- "I feel anxious and unsettled because I need reassurance and clarity on where we stand."

slighted comes from the verb slight. Here is its actual literal definition:

- Definition: To treat someone with disrespect or neglect; to ignore, insult, or reject someone by treating them as unimportant.
- Giving Away Ownership (Other-Focused):
"I feel slighted by you."
 - a. What this actually means: "You did something wrong. You diminished me. You are responsible for fixing this pain."
 - b. The Result: It puts the focus entirely on the other person's behavior, which usually triggers defensiveness or counter-attacks.
- Taking Full Ownership (Self-Focused):
"I feel hurt because consideration is really important to me."
 - a. What this actually means: "I am experiencing pain right now because my need for consideration isn't being met. I own this

The Art of Hearing "No" 🛡️❤️

The Human Challenge: Rejection feels like a threat to our survival. It is hard to set boundaries (fear of hurting others) and hard to hear them (fear of being hurt).

The NVC Reframe: We practice hearing "No" not as a rejection of us, but as a "Yes" to one of their own needs.

The Trust Paradox: 🤝 If I can trust your No, I can believe your Yes

When we know someone isn't saying "Yes" out of guilt or obligation, their agreement becomes a genuine gift rather than a burden.

Goal: Build Resilience 💪 To hear a "No" without losing the connection or taking it personally.

1. The Choice of Silence: 🙄 You have the choice not to respond at all.
 - Note: Every choice has a consequence (a "price" to the connection), but the right to choose is always yours.
2. The Simple "No": 🖐️ You can just say "No." You do not owe anyone an explanation or justification. "No" is a complete sentence.
3. Reflect Back: 🔄 Repeat back what you heard.
 - Why: This buys you time to think and ensures you actually understand what they want before you answer.
4. Empathy Guess: 🦒 Shift the focus to them: "Are you feeling [Feeling] because you need [Need]?" This can diffuse the tension.
5. The Authentic "Yes": ✅ Say "Yes"—but only if you can do it without resentment.

As the Recipient:
You Have Options 🛠️

Rejection exercise (group exercise) - NEW Scenarios

- “Would you sit next to me?”
- “Would you give me a compliment?”

- “Would you be willing to change the plans we made?”
- “Would you take a picture with me?”
- “Would you help me with this task today?”
- “Would you like to go on a date with me?”

Rejection Request Ideas/Scenarios

1. Could you tell me what you're really feeling instead of shutting down?
2. Would you be open to couples counseling?
3. Can you say 'I love you' more often? I miss hearing it.
4. Would you be willing to forgive me?
5. Can we try again after what happened?
6. Can you stay while I cry for a bit?
7. Would you tell me if something I do pushes you away?
8. Can I share something personal without you trying to fix it?
9. Would you be open to hearing how your words landed for me?
10. Can you be honest with me, even if you think it might hurt?

Rejection Request Ideas/Scenarios

1. Hey, do you want to hang out tonight? I could really use some company.
2. Would you like to come over for dinner this weekend?
3. Could you please do the dishes tonight? I'm really wiped out.
4. I've been sitting on something that hurt me—can we talk about it?
5. I'm throwing a little birthday thing and would love for you to come.
6. Would you cuddle with me? I'm feeling very sad from a lack of physical touch...
7. Would you consider moving in with me? I'd love to share a home with you.
8. I've realized I have feelings for you. I wanted to tell you honestly.
9. I'm thinking about moving to another city, and I'd love for us to start fresh together. Would you come with me?

Rejection exercise (group exercise)

1. Would you be willing to lend me your car for the weekend?
2. Can you help me move my furniture tomorrow?
3. Will you swap your lunch with me?
4. Would you mind watching my pet while I'm away?
5. Can I borrow your phone for an hour?
6. Would you like to join me for a run at 6 a.m.?
7. Can you stay late to finish this project with me tonight?
8. Would you share something personal with the group?
9. Can you give me a ride to the airport early Saturday morning?
10. Would you cancel your plans to spend time with me now?
11. Would you skinny-dip with me right now?
12. Can I text your ex from your phone tonight?
13. Would you let me draw on your face with a permanent marker?
14. Will you reveal your wildest fantasy to the group?
15. Can you prank-call someone using your real voice?
16. Would you let me see the last photo on your camera roll?
17. Can you eat a spoonful of hot sauce in front of everyone?
18. Will you do a dramatic reading of your last text message exchange?
19. Would you swap outfits with me for the next hour?
20. Can you send a flirty DM to a celebrity from your own account?

Rejection Request Ideas/Scenarios

What the Options Sound Like

The Stimulus: Someone asks you: "Can you drop everything and help me right now? I'm freaking out!"

- 1. The Choice of Silence  (Taking 3 deep breaths to check in with yourself before saying anything. You are choosing not to react immediately.)
- 2. The Simple "No"  "I am not available to help right now."
- 3. Reflect Back  "I hear that you are really stressed and you want me to come over immediately. Is that right?"
- 4. Empathy Guess  "Are you feeling overwhelmed? Do you need some reassurance that you can handle this?"
- 5. The Authentic Response (The "No" with Care)  "I can't come over right now (I have a need for rest), but I would be willing to talk on the phone for 10 minutes."

Facilitation Tip

When you present #2 (The Simple No), remind them: "Notice I didn't say 'I can't because I'm busy.' I just said 'I am not available.' Explanations often sound like excuses. You are allowed to just say No."

Debrief

Let's answer these questions:

- a. How are you feeling now?
- b. How did you feel about these exercises?
- c. What is your one main takeaway from the workshop tonight?

Get up and shake it off!

See you next time!

We are eager to learn about how you have integrated Nonviolent Communication (NVC) principles into your daily routines.
